AKASHI

Founded by Vina Ahuja, Akashi Clothing brings together traditional and contemporary aesthetics, allowing you to rediscover India from a different perspective. The brand celebrates handcraft practices by sourcing textiles from Jaipur and adding a touch of modernity to them. Perfect for the festive season, their ensembles are crafted from flowy, traditionally nurtured fabrics in pastel hues with detailed embroidery.

Neelari, Akashi Clothing's collection, sheds light on indigo blue, a versatile yet regal hue, while drawing inspiration from India's Blue City—Jodhpur. And this embroidered and sequins indigo patchwork pantsuit is all set to up your fashion game during the celebrations.

The label's Rivaayat Collection presents this hand-embroidered, earthy green linen sari with a bell-sleeved chanderi blouse. While the sari has a geometric border, the blouse stands out with its slender cuts and a Madhubani painting. Focusing on epic stories and traditional patterns, this blouse has been created with natural pigments that's sure to make heads turn at your best friend's wedding.

Ethnic and modern, timeless and versatile, bold and demure, all at once, this fashion label's raison d'être is to empower Indian craftsmen. Blending traditional motifs with modern styles, her collections find inspiration in the rich and opulent architecture of India. The ensembles are intricately embroidered by local artisans to offer finesse, style, comfort and glamour to the contemporary Indian woman.
